LETTERS

Dear Jon;

Thanks for the complimentary copy of CS #1. I must admit that I was a bit skeptical when I got your first letter, but after reading this issue cover to cover, word for word, I'm sold! I think that this can really work because everyone involved is being honest about what is going on in their segment of the market.

I look forward to submitting a report for the April issue. Maybe we can bring a little sanity back to this market before the crash and burn disease that struck the card industry comes after us as well.

Thanks again!
Patrick Donley
Time Tunnel

Dear Patrick;

Thanks for your support! I think CS will work, too, because it is a true reflection of what books are really worth. It's an open marketplace, with (ultimately) thousands of books for sale in each issue. The dual purpose that the marketplace serves is that of a true guide to current actual values. And, in fact, because all sellers are listing their books side by side for the whole world to see, it serves as a system of checks and balances which hopefully will curb the inflationary trends of the past.

Welcome aboard! I'm glad to have you on the team!

Moderate Future Demand

Fool's Gold

We're back — and so is Superman. Boy, are the people who bought all those "Death of Superman" books going to be mad next month when Superman flies back into comic book stores.

I know it's no surprise to most of you. A surprise is Marvel bringing Captain Marvel back — or going a month without soliciting a holo-grafix cover. Honestly, no one expected DC to keep their flagship hero out of commission for long, but they didn't even let the corpse get cold. The only thing they have left cold is some of the collectors, who paid $20 or more for a comic in which Superman kicked anticlimactically. I expect the issue he proposed to Lois Lane in will ultimately prove to be worth more than these "Death" books.

One other item of note: although you can't tell it from our picks this month, it appears the number of gimmicks (flashy covers, polybags, trading cards) from the big comic companies is shrinking. Could it mean publishers are starting to hear the battle cry of collectors everywhere who don't want to wear sunglasses while bagging their comics? I'm not sure yet if it's just a momentary lapse, or a coming trend. I'll get back to you.

You can always tell when school is about to let out by the number of new comics a company starts pushing. By the looks of the number of things coming out next month, you'd think summer is here and final report cards are being mailed this week. But they aren't. Anyway, these are the books we picked from the dozens of spotlighted issues to be released in April.

DC

Action Comics #687

direct market edition	$1.95
newsstand edition	$1.50	color

By Stern, Guice and Rodier.

Superman's back and is he miffed. In fact, Superman is so unhappy about the time he spent down under (the ground, that is) that he no longer cares if he kills the baddies he's trying to stop. But, as usual, when you get out of line your Pa steps in to straighten you out. As with all the Superman titles coming in April, this issue features a die-cut design on the outer cover and a double-page mini-poster bound in. The newsstand version only lacks the special cover. These books will likely start out strong and fizzle fast, much as the "Death of Superman" books did. If you're going to play the market with these, you'd better buy fast and sell faster.

Adventures of Superman #500

direct market version $2.95
newsstand edition $2.50 color

By Ordway, Jurgens, Simonson, Stern, Kesel, Grummett, Bogdanove, Guice, Hazlewood, Breeding, Janke and Rodier.

This is the first of the Superman books to return to a regular publishing schedule. Superman remains dead, and Pa Kent is fast on his way to joining him. Somewhere in the middle they meet. But who will go with whom? The collector's edition features eight splash pages and no ads. The cover has a translucent cover panel over Jerry Ordway's painted cover. The newsstand version has ads, no splash pages and a different cover. Each version is 64 pages. As far as gimmicks go, DC's seem to be a little more low-key and less cheesy. But a gimmick is still a gimmick, and in the long run, this one, like dead Superman, won't fly.

Adventures of Superman #501

direct market version $1.95
newsstand edition $1.50 color

By Kesel, Grummett and Hazlewood.

"The Reign of Superman" storyline continues as a young TV reporter steals Superman's attention from Lois Lane. The collector's edition features a die-cut design cover and a double-page mini-poster. The newsstand version has a different cover — but also has the poster.

Green Arrow #75

$2.50 color

By Mike Grell and Rick Hoberg.

This oversized anniversary issue reunites GA with Speedy and Shado to face the Black Archer. The return of Speedy will likely only matter to collectors who've been around enough to remember Speedy from the Silver Age, and the Shado appearance will spark the interest of fans of Grell's Longbow Hunters mini-series. The distributors were spotlighting this issue as a "sure bet." Don't gamble.

Justice League Task Force #1

By Michelinie, Velluto and Albrecht.

In this new ongoing series, the Martian Manhunter hand-picks special teams to take on the League's toughest assignments. Many of the team members will be new faces to the Justice League. This first issue features Nightwing, Flash, Green Lantern and Aquaman trying to dismantle a doomsday machine on a Caribbean island. This will likely be overlooked the first time around, but the potential for a generally valuable series is here, especially when you consider that DC will likely include a mix of characters in every issue to interest a broad base of readers. And a book like this is where a company sometimes chooses to test out a new character. First appearance possibilities are likely here.

Justice League

Kamandi: At Earth's End #1

By T. Veitch, Gomez and Barreiro.

This time, the Elseworlds concept is taking the form of a six-issue mini-series. In this story, Kamandi is transported to the annihilated surface of the Earth. His mission is to find the man responsible for the destruction of the world. The cover by Berni Wrightston will have some appeal, and the following for the Elseworld sagas has been moderate, so the book has a little potential, even though Kamandi as a character is not greatly in demand right now.

Sandman #50

By Gaiman and Russell.

This anniversary issue of one of DC's hottest titles tells the story of Haroun Al Raschid, an ancient king of Baghdad. Haroun is troubled because he wants the one thing he can't have — a gift from the lord of dreams. This oversized issue features an artist gallery of interpretations of Sandman by Dave McKean, Scott McLeod, Todd McFarlane, Mike Kaluta, John Totleben, Micheal Zulli and Jill Karla Scwartz. And the black cover is enhanced with metallic ink. The cover may help it off the shelf, and the artist gallery will attract more than just the regular readers, but this book doesn't need much help.

Superman #78

direct market edition $1.95
newsstand version $1.50 color

By Jurgens and Breeding.

In this issue Superman returns, "rebuilt for the future" and decides to make sure the one villain who bested him cannot come back. This issue features the new Superman's first meeting with Lois, and she's not real

Coming In April:
"Gold Bar" Ratings For May Releases!

happy with what she sees. The collector's edition features a die-cut cover and a double-page mini-poster. The newsstand version features a normal cover. Of all the "Reign of Superman" titles, I feel like this one may have the most long-lasting value. The new Superman's return to action and his first meeting with Lois may give this title an advantage over the other much-hyped issues this month.

Superman: The Man of Steel #22

direct market edition $1.95
newsstand version $1.50 color

By L. Simonson, Bogdanove and Janke.

Superman rids Metropolis of a new female crime lord who is leading the crime wave in Suicide Slum. As with the others, the collector's edition of this issue features the die-cut cover and the mini-poster. The newsstand version has a regular cover. And by now, the return of Superman is no big thing.

Vertigo Visions - The Geek #1

By Pollack and Allred.

This title is going to be the launching pad for special projects in DC's adult line. This issue Brother Power The Geek, the Joe Simon cult character of the late 1960s, returns from last appearance in the 1989 Swamp Thing Annual. The Geek is here to fight for his soul after being corrupted into a series of self-destructive lifestyles. 64 pages. The possibilities of an initially overlooked cult classic are here, but so are the chances that this is an overhyped rag.

Vertigo Visions

Marvel

Amazing Spider-Man #378

By Michelinie, Bagley and Emberlin.

The third installment of "Maximum Carnage" finds Venom whippin' up on Carnage for mutilating innocent people alongside Shriek. It's got Venom, it's got Carnage, and it's Spidey's flagship book. What else do you need (besides an extra copy or two to sell in a year or two)?

Fight Man One Shot

$2.00 color

By Evan Dorkin.

Even though Marvel doesn't come right out and say this is a parody, it reads like one. Fight Man is powerful, but not real bright, and his sidekicks have the unfortunate habit of early demise. Sounds like mid-1970's Hulk meets Spinal Tap. This one's real iffy.

The Infinity Crusade (of 6)

By Jim Starlin, Ron Lim and Al Milgrom.

The final installment of the Infinity trilogy begins, and I'll bet you never even realized it was supposed to be a trilogy. The Goddess, in a move to get rid of all evil in the universe, recruits 30 of Marvel's most powerful (and profitable) heroes. The creative team here is excellent, but a lot of people are getting tired of massive crossovers that really don't need to be crossovers. While this series will be hot for a while, don't feel the need to buy every related issue. Sell your extras before the series ends!

Shadow Riders #1 (of 4)

By Freeman, Williamson and Dearsley.

This new series from Marvel UK features a new super-team created by techno-wizard Vorin to fight the evil MyS-TECH board. With Cable guest-starring the investment potential far outweighs the entertainment value.

Spectacular Spider-Man #201

$1.25 color

By DeMatteis and Buscema.

The Black Cat, Venom, Carnage and Shriek. Do you even care what the plot is? A definite investment.

Spider-Man #35

$1.75 color

By Michelinie and Lyle.

In this continuation of "Maximum Carnage" you have much the same as every installment: Spidey, Venom, Cloak and Black Cat fighting Carnage, Shriek, the Spidey Doppelganger and Demogoblin. Expect lots of dialogue like this: "Oof!" "Die, Spider-Man!" "Why didn't we get an embossed cover?"

Spider-Man/Punisher/ Sabretooth: Designer Genes

$8.95 color

By Kavanagh, McDaniel and Williams.

A real simple plot here: Spider-Man and the Punisher fight X-Men villain Sabretooth and a group of crazed genetic engineers. This book is a 64-page fight with a silver foil-embossed cover. The art looks pretty good and the characters are bankable.

Thunderstrike #1

By DeFalco, Frenz and Milgrom.

This double-sized book kicks off Eric Masterson's own new series, complete with one of those infamous holo-grafix covers. Masterson has a new costume, new powers and a a new weapon (looks like another hammer to me). There's no need to try and be coy about it, we think this book is a real sleeper. Miss it now and you could be paying some bucks for it later.

Thunderstrike

U.S.Agent #1 (of 4)

By Gruenwald, Wyman and Williams.

The origin of the man who once replaced Captain America is detailed in this first issue of the mini-series. This one has some possibilities, but not many.

Web of Spider-Man #101

$1.25 color

By Kavanagh and Saviuk.

All these "Maximum Carnage" issue look alike. Spidey and Venom fight Carnage and gang. Who cares? Don't read it — just buy it. This one's going to be back issue gold.

X-Men Unlimited #1

By Lobdell, Bachalo and Panosian. 64 pages.

This new X-Men series is on high-quality paper. The first issue features Professor X, Storm and Cyclops freezing to death in Antarctica. It's an X-Men #1, so there will be millions of them printed, but there will still be a run on them. Don't follow the herd!

Image

By Liefeld, Fraga and Miki.

Bloodstrike is a team of five "unstoppable killing machines" the government is secretly financing. This issue team member Cabbot readies himself to try and stop Brigade and Battlestone. A special embossed cover surrounds this issue. But you know with Image and Liefeld's name on the cover, you didn't really need that gimmick. Now, if they will just get it out on time ...

Brigade #1

$1.95 color

By Liefeld, Mychaels, Rapmund and Stephenson.

Bloodstone and cohorts have no more than got through the door at headquarters following their last adventure than they are attacked by Bloodstrike. Part one of the "Blood Brother" storyline. How can we not at least give any Image first issue three bars?

Deathblow #1

By Jim Lee and Brandon Choi.

Deathblow is a secret government weapon put into action during Operation Desert Storm to assassinate Saddam Hussein. With a black varnish cover (I guess they ran out of chrome spray paint). This one has some potential, because there's the possibility that it will get overlooked on the first go around. Image is soliciting a lot of new books this time around. Whether they get published or not is another story. But, hey, it's Image.

1963: Mystery Inc. #1 (of 6)

By Alan Moore, Rick Veitch and Dave Gibbons

Shades of Watchmen! Moore's return to comics writing has him chronicling a set of super-heroes set in the early 1960's, when comic books were comic books, and glitter salesmen were poor. This will be the one book that people outside of the Image realm will cross that line to get. As a matter of fact, among Image readers this probably won't live up to what they're accustomed to. All the better for everyone else. And, by the way, the investment potential is here.

Phantom Force #1 (of 3)

By Kirby, Liefeld, McFarlane, Lee and Larsen.

As a virus continues to kill people across the country, the Phantom Force discovers the government (ever notice these Image guys have it in for the government?) is holding back the antidote. It's up to them to infiltrate the secret labs of the government and save the country. The pencils by Kirby look more like they belong in that Alan Moore books above, which will probably not endear the book to Image fans. This issue will be polybagged with one of five trading cards by Liefeld, McFarlane, Lee and Larsen.

And from Epic...

Joe Kubert's Tor #1 (of 4)

$5.95 color

This 32-page magazine features Kubert's masterpiece printed on Venom stock. Kubert fans will love this, but don't look for it to set the back issue market on fire.

Midnight Men #1 (of 4)

$2.50 color

By Howard Chaykin.

Chaykin's vigilante team face off with a thief in this metallic cover-clad issue. There will be an audience for this, but not one willing to pay a lot of money.

The Trouble With Girls #1 (of 4)

By Jones, Jacobs, Blevins and Williamson.

Super agent and hunk Lester Girls is back in a new mini-series. Under Marvel's special imprint, Girls will get more exposure, but the value of these issues will never touch that of the small press issues.

Valiant

Eternal Warrior #12

$2.25 color

By Van Hook, Moretti and Dixon.

The Immortal Enemy returns for a three-part story this issue. Evidently IE survived his "death" back in issue #4, and now he's looking for blood. Superman, Immortal Enemy, nobody stays dead anymore.

Turok Dinosaur Hunter #1

By Michelinie, Sears and Elliot.

As if Unity wasn't bad enough, Turok has now found himself in a strange future, strangely similar to the Lost Land. That is, the place is crawling — or is that stomping? — with Bionosaurs. Or course, Turok is no Bionosaur lover. Right now, a new Valiant title is definitely a smart move for the investment-oriented reader/collector.

From other publishers

Aliens: Rogue #1 (of 4)

By Edgintona and Simpson.

Corporate spy Kray is sent to investigate rumors that someone is genetically engineering Aliens to better serve — or destroy ... These Aliens mini-series from Dark Horse are becoming all too common, but who knows. Just when you thought it was safe ...

Bombast #1

By Thomas, Friedrich, Ayers and Severin.

Jack Kirby's kind of busy this month, introducing four titles under the Topps Comics imprint. Bombast is the first of these interrelated stories. About 15,000 years ago, something destroyed Bombast's civilization. Now, his mission is to save modern humankind from the same destruction. The problem is, he can't remember what his mission is. And Savage Dragon is not making his job any easier. This issue is polybagged with a Bombast Kirbychrome trading card. Yawn. If nothing else, the Savage Dragon appearance will make this issue. But who knows, Topps is a hot company now, and Kirby definitely has a following.

Bombast

Captain Glory #1

$2.95 color

By Thomas and Ditko.

Captain Glory is in the same boat as Bombast — he can't remember what he's supposed to be doing, but there was that little thing about saving humankind ... Did I mention this issue is polybagged with a Captain Glory trading card?

Night Glider #1

By Thomas, Conway and Heck.

Night Glider can soar the skies of Secret City, trying to learn about the world she was created to defend 15,000 years ago. She soon finds that some of the guys making trouble when she was created are still around — and they are looking for her. Polybagged with a trading card from Topps.

Satan's Six #1

$2.95 color

By Thomas, Friedrich, Ayers and Severin.

This group, which oddly resembles the Inhumans, have been thrown out of Heaven and Hell. So now they are in between — on Earth — and they definitely aren't wanted there. Somehow this group connects with the other Secret City books.

TIPSHEET

Because The Smart Investor Is The Informed Investor

This is the first installment of Tip Sheet, a list of recently released books we believe are good bets for future investment. We plan to alternate Tip Sheet and Renegar Report. Look for a new survey of buy/sell prices in next month's Comics Source.

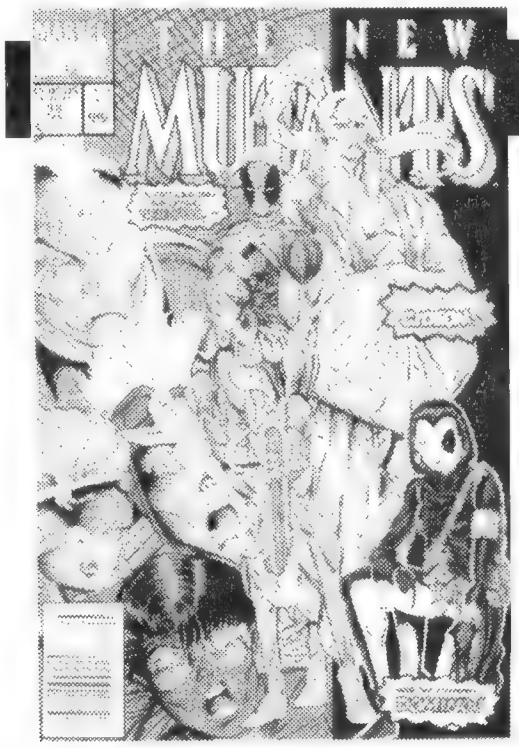
HOT PICKS

More and more collectors are "playing the market," looking at their collection as both an enjoyable pasttime and a way to pick up extra bucks. If you're looking at the recent comics market with dollar signs in your eyes, wondering where the next big investment is going to be, you might want to consider these books. Of course, there are no guarantees in the crazy comics pit, but we think these are better-than-average picks.



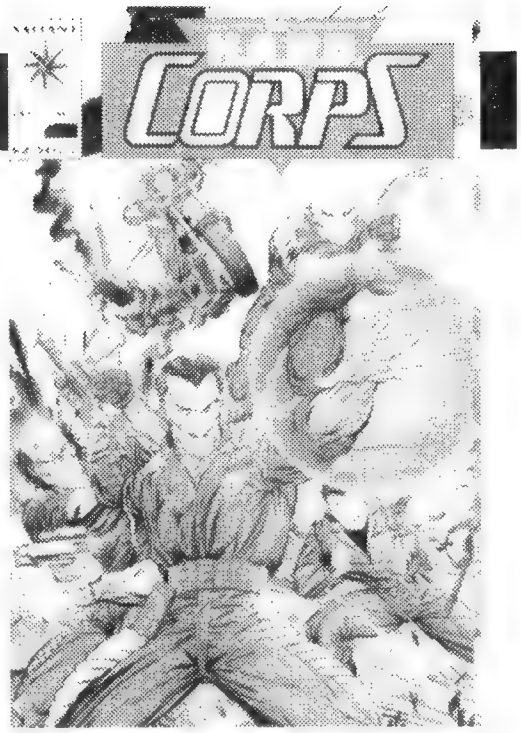
The New Mutants

Now, you ask yourself why this book? Is it because Rob Liefeld did the art? No. Is it because Cable does something cool in the story? No. Then why in the world would someone pick this book? Can you say Dead Pool, Domino and Gideon? In the heat of the Cable Crisis, as I like to call it, people seem to overlook these new characters. Now that the Cable thing has died down (hee hee hee) collectors are realizing that these major characters haven't been with us all along. This is probably a good investment, since you get three first appearances for the price of one. Also, it looks like Marvel plans to use these characters heavily in the future.

Pitt #1

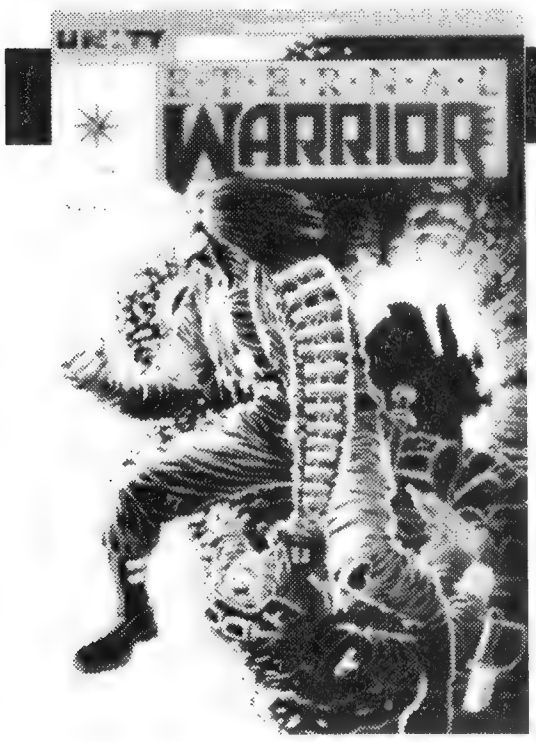
Well ... here's an interesting book. Most people expected this book to do well. The only thing people didn't expect was that it would sell out so fast. This may be because it was so late in shipping that people forgot it was coming out. Aside from that, why choose Pitt? I like it. It's dark, it's gritty and it's different. The question is: Is it worth investing in? Well, that's a tough question, but I think the answer is yes. The art is good and the story is interesting enough to encourage future issue sales. A lot will depend on if they can keep up the good work and get the book out on time.

H.A.R.D. Corps #1



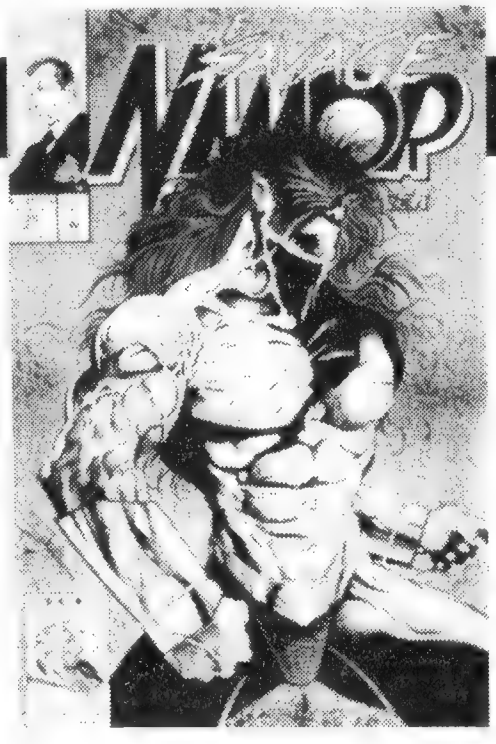
Most team books take a lot of time to catch on because of all the characters that have to be introduced. Valiant has done a good job in this book. They take their time in introducing the characters and for this reason the book's sales have started off slowly. It has a Jim Lee gatefold cover and has many characters that could one day cross-over or star in their own books (remember Wolverine). It's still easily affordable in multiple copies and still fairly available. This book has investment potential written all over it (well ... not literally, but you get the point).

Eternal Warrior #1



I know, I know ... what in the Valiant line isn't an investment pick. Well, I think this might have more potential than some. It's the first book of a really popular series but it also has one big thing going for it: since it was part of the Unity storyline there are still copies available and collectors can still pick up multiple copies for a good price. One might say, "Hey, there are tons of those books floating around the market, they won't be worth anything!" Valiant did print more copies of the Unity books than any pre-Unity stuff, but compared to the other big companies the print run is still small. Look for this title to increase in popularity and sales.

Namor #26



This is a cool book. It's Jae Lee's first work on Namor and the art is ... well ... different from the usual mainstream Namor. Jae Lee's appearance on the book has increased sales tremendously and other collectors are starting to take notice. He is also an up-and-coming artist that seems to be increasing in popularity. Right now most people are just beginning to see his potential, so the book is still affordable. How long will it be affordable? Probably not long. Lee plans to do Youngblood: Strike File for Image. He also has several projects set for 1993. So? Now's the time to get this book while you still can!

Death #1

The High Cost of Living

With the popularity of DC's Sandman series, this book is sure to be a hit. Since her first appearance in Sandman #8, Death has been an important character. As part of the new Vertigo line, DC gives Death her own mini-series. Now, most people are skeptical about investing in a mini-series, regardless of the subject. Why is this book any different? Well ... for several reasons. Neil Gaiman is a superb writer. He keeps the reader involved in the story and makes the reader look forward to the next issue. This increases collectibility. It's also the first time we see Death in her own book. I think this one has potential!

Silver & Gold

by Keith Contarino

Many collectors ignore the growing investment potential in old comics because they don't know enough about them. A seasoned collector outlines the basics of investing in silver and gold age comics.

The Silver and Golden Age market is alive and vibrant and will stay that way. As a collectibles market, tastes change and even cycle, but many Silver and Golden Age comics are virtually risk-free investments.

Many collectors shy away, from these comics, however, because they do not know enough about them. Ths column is is intended to become a forum for discussion of specific time periods, genres, titles, characters and issues of old comic collecting. This first missive will try to hit upon most of the basics. For a more lengthy overview on this topic, I highly recommend the somewhat dated but still relevant D.W. Howard's Investing in Comics.

While no one can conclusively say when the Silver Age ended, MOST people believe it was definitely over by 1970. I personally believe it ended when Steve Ditko left Marvel or when Tales of Suspense, Tales to Astonish and Strange Tales became Iron Man 1, Hulk 102 and Dr. Strange 169, respectively. This occurred mid-1968.

Certainly there are many post-1970 comics that should be considered as investment-type material. All these books are in fairly high supply, however, and the demand for these books can change so rapidly that they are more risky. Spiderman 129 and Hulk 181 are good examples. Five years ago, NM copies of either of these could be had for $20. Two years ago, prices had skyrocketed to the $300 range. When this happened, NM copies came out of the woodwork and were everywhere. Supply soon outpaced demand, and prices began to fall. While both books still Guide in the $300 range, it is difficult to sell them at that even if the books are perfect Mint. In fact, there are so many Mint to NM/M copies around that even NM copies will only bring $200 or so.

There are several general principles of collecting old comics to consider when making an investment.

- Comics are collectibles, not staples or essentials. Consequently, no matter what any price guide may say, a particular comic is worth only what someone is willing to pay for it.
- Demand is far more important than supply in determining price increases and decreases. If no one wants it, it's valueless. Of course, high demand or low supply books will make prices increase even more rapidly. (See Batman 428, Howard the Duck 1, New Mutants 87.) However, if short supply was imagined or artificial, watch prices drop as rapidly as they rose (see Batman 428, HTD 1, etc.)
- Prices and demand are tied to the whims of collectors.
- No one can accurately predict how the whims of collectors may change. Predictions are guesses. Sometimes you're right; sometimes not. If, for example, eight years ago you reasoned that because the Legion of Superheroes was a hot current title and Flash was slow, that Adventure 247 would surpass Showcase 4 in value and desirability, you were wrong. Both those books guided in the same price range then. If you had spent $10,000 on high grade Showcase 4's then, you could retire now.

With these four "basics," we can talk about investing in Silver vs. Gold, keys vs. nonkeys, high grade vs. low grade, and all possible permutations. I don't want to bore anyone listing numbers, so I'll try to stay as general as possible, Oh yeah, before I go any further, here's the collectibility disclaimer — when collecting, buy what you like! This column is for investors, not necessarily collectors.

There are basically three types of people who buy old comics: collectors, who plan never to sell their books, collector/investors, people who plan to eventually sell if the price is right, and investors, who intend to sell anything they buy. With that in mind, investing in comics can either proceed like investing in the stock market or one can choose comics he or she likes, as well as the investment potential. I think this is one of the things that make comics great. In addition to the thrill of making a good deal and being rewarded monetarily, we can purchase a piece of history or of our childhood. I don't know about you, but I get no great thrill looking at my AT&T stock certificates. Not so for my complete run of Uncle Scrooge!

Buying comics as investments is theoretically very simple. You simply choose investment quality material, negotiate as low a price as possible, arrive at a specified time period to hold the books, resell them and collect your profits. What could possibly be easier? Well, in reality almost anything. Unfortunately there is little standardization of grade, price and reliability. In addition, there are a lot of outright con artists out there who will knowingly sell trimmed or restored books as untouched. Because it's impossible to check every book, and restoration is getting to such an art that it's no longer immediately evident to the observer, it is increasingly easy to be taken in. Good examples are the Marvel "File Copies" that circulated a few years ago. These were advertised as NM/M untouched comics. Almost all are trimmed, color touched or both. Beware any Marvel that has "File Copy" stamped over an arrival date on the first page.

Even if you buy from a reputable seller, there will be grading differences. A book I feel is a solid VF may be graded NM by another dealer, and F+ by yet another. The price you pay may either be fair or exorbitant, depending on the actual grade. A fair price for a solid VF Amazing Fantasy is probably in the $7500 range. A person purchasing a VF but thinks it's a NM at that price feels he's getting a good deal but will feel somewhat differently when he goes to sell it. On the other hand, a person paying $7500 for a F+ graded as a VF got a bad deal. Of course, this book is so solid, even at $7500, a F+ should eventually turn a decent profit. This merely points out the necessity of learning to accurately grade, whether buying or selling.

Assuming you can locate accurately graded books at fair prices, what do you choose to buy? Eighteen years ago when I first started attending conventions, Four Color #9 was as highly regarded as Action 1, Detective 27 and Marvel Comics #1. Since that time, Four Color #9 has been surpassed in value and desirability by hundreds of comics, some 20 years younger and nowhere near as rare. Even Marvel Comics #1 has slipped and is nowhere near as desirable as Batman 1, Superman 1, More Fun 52, All-American 16, Adventure 40 and Flash 1. While Marvel Comics #1 still maintains its hefty price tag, it is nowhere near as marketable as the above list. Given the choice of buying a F+ Marvel Comics #1 or taking the same money and buying F+ copies of All American 16, Flash #1, Adventure 40 and 48, what would you do?

Another problem with Golden Age investing is the lack of availability. None of these books may be available for sale. If the supply of all of these is equally low, what's going to decide the price? Demand, of course. I see demand for Superman #1 far outpacing that of Marvel Comics #1 for the next few years, so I'd say that Supey #1 is the better book. But at what price? Is a restored F+ Supey #1 worth $10,000 or $20,000? How about a Fair copy? Is it worth $3,000 or $4,000? What's that same copy worth after spending $1,500 restoring it to a solid Fine? Is it worth purchase price plus cost of restoration ($4,500 to 5,500) or one half Fine Guide ($8,250)? I don't know but, from these few examples, it should be readily apparent that investing in old comics can be anything but simple.

Culture & Thrills

BY

DAVID T. ALEXANDER

I've been asked to share some information and opinions about comic books and related material with fellow collectors who read Comics Source. I plan to concentrate on information about older comics, their influences and the other publications that affected them.

Before I get into this material I'd like to share some background information with you. I've been collecting comics since the early 1950's. Some of my earliest thrills in collecting include days spent looking through comics at the few used book stores in Tampa. The local mecca for fans was Walkers Magazine Exchange on Florida Avenue. Comics cost a nickel each or six for a quarter. For a couple of bucks you could fill up your bike basket. This was the only old-time book store that I have ever seen that sorted comics by genre. Comics were always stacked on a couple of large tables. Westerns, crime, horror, superhero, jungle, romance, war, science-fiction, funny ... each had its own stack. The science-fiction stacks would really make a fan sweat. Large quantities of Weird Science, Planet, Weird Fantasy, and all the other great titles were always available. I thought it was odd that I never saw a Fiction House comic on any local news stand, but this place was loaded with them! Very few early 1940's comics turned up here, but we're talking about the mid-50's, so I guess it's not that unusual.

> "The search for that unique or exceptional item has always been the thrill of collecting for me. My motto has always been that if you can order it from any distributor or pick it up in any store, then it isn't rare."

The big problem was trying to figure out which comics to purchase with my limited funds. Men's Adventures, Rangers, Phantom Lady, Captain America's Weird Tales, Whiz, Black Rider, John Wayne, Donald Duck, Police, Tales From the Crypt — the decision was always a hard one. Old man Walker and his grumpy wife would take your comics in trade, two for one. That trade prospect led to another dilemma ... did I have any two issues that I would trade in for one other issue? When we consider this type of situation today, wouldn't you love to trade two Porky Pigs for an All-Star?

The best book I ever picked up at Walkers was Showcase #4. Yes, it was only five cents and even old lady Walker's grumpy attitude didn't bug me the day I got it! When Fantastic Four #1 hit the stands I wasn't impressed. I admit it wasn't like any comic I'd read before, but these guys didn't have costumes. How could a superhero fight crime without a uniform? My disinterest in the Fantastic Four can't be blamed completely on the contents of the book; I'd simultaneously discovered the appeal of cars and girls. These influences temporarily decreased the amount of time (and money) I had to read comics. The thing that really killed me was when comics hit 12 cents. That was a dark day for me.

I didn't really look at comics again until 1967. During my last year of college I had a job with a magazine distributor in Georgia. Did you ever wonder who the person was that tore the titles off all those 3/4 cover comics? It was me! I'd take some of these stripped issues back to my dorm and read them at night.

COMIC FANDOM

A revelation appeared in the pages of these issues. Mail order comic dealers! Howard Rogofsky, Robert Bell, Grand Book Center and others. Plus, I discovered fanzines such as The Rocket's Blast and comic conventions! I realized I wasn't the only person over ten years old who still thought comics were fun.

BUSINESS BEGINS

After college I moved to Los Angeles. In the late 1960's, Hollywood was a comic book paradise. Bond Street Books, Collectors Book Store, Cherokee Book Shop all had huge selections of old comics. Actually, Burt Blum at Cherokee probably had the finest selection of Golden Age comics that will ever be accumulated. I bought tons from him over the years. In the late 1960's and 70's, all of California was a gold mine for paper collectibles! I had amassed such a huge collection that by 1972 I opened the American Comic Book Company, a retail chain of stores in Southern California.

NEW OUTLOOK

The search for that unique or exceptional item has always been the thrill of collecting for me. Owning the retail stores had forced me to take my focus off old material and concentrate on new products. My motto has always been that if you can order it from any distributor or pick it up in any store then it isn't rare. So, I got rid of the stores and began to concentrate on the rare, unusual, and unique items that are so much fun to own.

COMIC STORES

Since I no longer own any stores, I have more time for conventions, road trips, buying sprees, etc. Whenever I get a chance I visit stores as I travel. Most stores don't seem to stock much in the way of older comics, preferring to rely on the easier sales of new products. Many of the stores I visit are thrilled to sell me their entire inventory of older comics. Think of it as volume versus rarity. I enjoy rarity!

COOL ITEMS / COMIC INFO

I've been getting a lot of requests lately for Good Girl Art comics. The demand on these has not been major for the last two years, but lately it has become intense. I've seen a lot of interest in such titles as Jungle, Rangers, Fight, Exciting, All-Top, and Jo-Jo from people who had previously been collecting superhero comics. Is it because Good Girl Art comics are comparative bargains, or is it because of the natural appeal of these comics? Is the girl on the cover of Jo-Jo #25 drawn from a photo of Betty Page? This comic has one of the all-time greatest bondage/ dinosaur covers. If you get a chance, search this one out. Recently I've heard that John Wayne owned an interest in Toby Publishing Co., and that is why they published his comic. Does anyone know if this is true or not?

THE FUTURE

In subsequent issues I'll explore a number of relevant topics. Among these will be: which comics are truly rare, which ones are tremendous bargains, where are the undiscovered hordes of old comics? $

Shakin' The Bushes

by Jack Mallette

Welcome to my column.

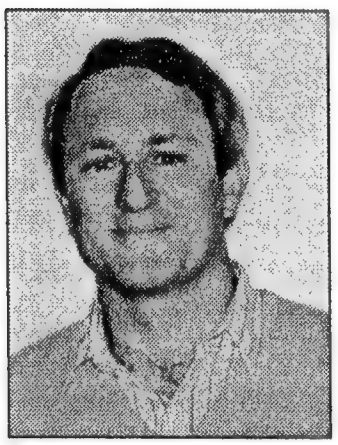
It's great to be here, although I wish I'd been around for the premiere issue of Comics Source. You've got to understand something about our esteemed owner/publisher/editor, though, to know why I missed it. Jon Warren is not your average Jonny when it comes to getting things done. He's accomplished more at the tender young age of thirty four than most of us will accomplish our next two or three lifetimes.

Remember junior high shop class, and being so proud of having constructed a plastic letter opener without having severed two or three digits? Jon's the guy next to you who built the Formula One racer.

He's the guy who becomes an accomplished classical guitarist in his spare time (I'm not making this up).

He's the guy whose wastebasket is filled with "throw-away" ideas that you and I would love to have conceived. And made winnebagos of money with.

And ask him about the time he came to visit me in Jackson, Miss., and we held the basketball court at Sammy Winder's (Denver Broncos) house against Othella Harrington (Georgetown Hoyas. For goodness' sake, read the Sports section!) and all the other high flyin' locals for over FOUR HOURS! For a short, slow, terminally white boy, he can shoot the lights out!



Jack Mallette is co-owner of Mallette's Vintage Collectibles, P.O. Box 12827, Jackson, Miss. 39236 (601-853-2317).

So, for as often as we keep in touch, I guess I shouldn't have been surprised when I dropped in for a quick visit and was greeted with "How've you been? Wife and kids? By the way, Bob's canceled the updates, I'm starting my own magazine, due out in two weeks, and I've got a plan to reduce the deficit."

O.K., maybe that last part wasn't in there, but you get my drift. He's one busy guy, and I have a sneaking feeling that he's just starting to come into his own.

Lead on, Jonny boy! We'll try to keep up.

Did I mention he has impeccable taste? He loved my column idea right away.

Since Jackson is such a hotbed of collectible activity, I spend a considerable amount of time on the road, and a healthy portion of that is spent in the "bush leagues" visiting shops and going to smaller shows, just "shakin' the bushes" to see what falls out. I'm sure the time will come when I reach the point where I've had enough traveling, but for now it fulfills some seminal wanderlust, opens new vistas, and pays the bills.

I've been active in almost every collectible market for the past fifteen or so years, most recently in the sportscard field. I've served, and am currently serving, as advisor to several hobby publications which find my particular areas of expertise valuable.

I've made countless friends from coast to coast, some of whom are undoubtedly reading this now, and most of whom I never get to see often enough. Please drop me a line and let me know how you're still cookin' and tell me about the deals you've made! I'll pass it on.

This will, in fact, be the focus of my column. I intend to be the town crier, the clarion call, the small town phone operator of Comics Fandom.

Pick up something unusual? Something great? Call me. If I'm not there, leave a message with my wife, Jenny, or my son, T.J., and I'll call back. Collect, of course, but I'll call. Careful, though, T.J.'s a precocious four years old, and just as likely to answer the phone "Mallette residence, Conan speaking" as not.

Spotting any new trends? Let me know. Looking for strange items? I might know where they are, or know who does.

One of the regular features of this column will also be to "spotlight" a shop or show dealer that I feel deserves a little recognition; but since I'm only contributing twelve columns per year, this will only extend so far, and the quickest way to ensure NOT being in the spotlight is to solicit the honor. Be forewarned.

I will also indulge a favorite pastime I like to practice when I visit shops and sit around yakkin' with the owners and customers, and that is "Picking the sleepers."

By that I mean the long-term snoozos, those books or titles that are hiding like diamonds in coal, waiting for that magic moment when some cosmic collector circuit is tripped and the collective consciousness — how's that for alliteration?— goes "Whoa! Where's this been hiding?" Or at least until Marvel or DC resurrects some long-forgotten hero from the slag-heap and gives him or her a new coat of four-color paint and trots them out for our approval. Ta-da!

And don't doubt for one blessed minute that, in this business, every dog will have its day. We watched it happen in the ballcard market in a huge way when, in the blink of an eye, basketball, football, hockey, even GOLF cards got hot overnight, and the vast majority of hip collectors were caught with their pants down around their ankles.

This all happened right about the time I was standing at a mini-con in Atlanta with Pat Henry of Titan Comics and Dr. Keith Contarino laughing about what people were going to start collecting next. I jokingly said, "Boy, I can hardly wait until Devil Dinosaur hits it big!"

I thought Keith was going to rip my lapels off. "Have you got a mint run?" he asked breathlessly. "I've got a collector who'll pay triple guide for it!"

"Picking sleepers is a game that is tremendous fun, and I've found it played almost universally. I never cease to be amazed at the variety of collector interests represented by the choices, and by the sophistication, even in the tiniest hamlets and one-stoplight towns in America."

I looked at Pat, who had stopped laughing, and was now nodding his head. I got all excited, until I realized that "triple guide" was about $1.75. But it opened my eyes nonetheless, and they've been open ever since.

My first pick? Well, it's not really mine, but I'll pass it on anyway. When I asked a colleague which 1970's Marvel titles he thought were long-term blue-chippers, he said, "I'll go you one better. Atlas."

Did he mean all those goofy four or five shot titles in the quarter box with names like "Planet of the Vampires" and "Ironjaw?" Surely not.

Then he proceeded to point out all the writers, artists and more that made these interesting titles to collect at the time. And while I didn't necessarily agree, I did have a faint warming of the heart when I remembered finishing a mint run of every Atlas book available. They're still in the Baggies I was using at the time, safe and snug, soaking up migratory additives.

Picking sleepers is a game that is tremendous fun, and I've found it played almost universally. I never cease to be amazed at the variety of collector interests represented by the choices, and by the sophistication, even in the tiniest hamlets and one-stoplight towns in America. Let's play!

Another issue that I'll be addressing from time to time, both in a positive and negative vein, is that of professionalism (or lack thereof).

I've been impressed, and most pleasantly surprised, by the general appeal of most comic and card shops I've had the pleasure to visit, but every now and then, one separates itself from the pack and stands alone.

There was the shop just outside Washington, D.C., where the shop owner (he knows who he is), after ignoring my presence for thirty minutes, finally consented to look at some comics and cards I had for sale.

When I returned from the van several minutes later, loaded for bear, he was eating a sandwich, and didn't even look up when he stated, "I don't have time right now." I've never been treated so rudely in my life, nor will I soon forget it.

Instances like this are offset, though, by more pleasant encounters. Like the shop owner in a small town in Arizona who interrupted our conversation to wait on a small boy who, having spent several minutes trying to decide how to spent the precious dollar bills clutched in his hand, had finally made his choice.

"Yes, sir, may I help you?" the dealer asked.

The boy didn't say a word, just handed over his money and waited patiently for his change.

"Thank you, son," said the man. "An excellent choice. I read that book myself. Come back and see us!"

I was so impressed I sold him MINT early X-Men at half-guide.

The key here, ladies and gentlemen, is to remember that you run a business. Granted, it's a fun business, and more than a few of us got into it because we were collectors, or treasure hunters, or both. But make no mistake, it is definitely a business, and as businesspersons, you must concern yourselves with the same matters every other business must to succeed. Matters like overhead, profit and loss, employee theft, investing, competition, and most importantly, how you treat the lifeblood of your business, your customers.

Because, let's face it, if they choose NOT to darken your door, you have no business.

I call it the Field of Dreams theory of retailing: "Build it and they will come." It most definitely does NOT work and adopting this method of operation is surely the quickest way to business failure.

Until next time, campers, remember: Life's too short.

Be honest.

Be fair.

Beware.

Collecting Original Comic Book Art

By Richard Halegua

Original Comic Art Is A Growing Hobby Which Is Ripe Both For Investors And Collectors. Some Pages Have Sold For As Much As $20,000 — And As Comic Art Begins To Gain Recognition In The Fine Art World, Prices May Skyrocket!

Collecting comic book and comic strip art has always been a very eclectic hobby to most. The perceived difficulties that surround its acquisition have continually dissuaded many a potential "panelologist."

But actually, collecting comic art is a very simple task, and in the end can be unusually satisfying. All that you really need to begin is a mild understanding of the creation of the actual artwork, and an interest in a particular character or an artist's work. From there it becomes startlingly easy to find and purchase (or trade for) original comic art. But without these general interests it is nearly impossible.

The first thing you need to decide is exactly why you want to collect. If you are like most collectors, you collect out of a nostalgic attachment to your hobby. I learned how to read from the comics and have been involved with them since I was four years old; therefore, I have a great nostalgic thread that trails throughout the field. I know who my favorite artists and characters are and this forms the basis for my collection.

There are other collectors who are, on the other hand, largely interested in the investment value of collectibles. However, this is not the best reason to get involved, since only the advanced collector can determine if profit is possible in any field.

Original comic art is created by an artist who will generally pencil a rough sketch of his strip and then "ink" it with a brush or a pen and india ink. The boxes that partition the pages are called "panels." For the Sunday comics or a comic book, the original is photocopied and then the copy is colored and reproduced — leaving the original in black and white. Until recent years, most of the art was destroyed after publication. However, because of the sheer quantity of art created for the medium from 1890 to 1992 there are vast amounts that are sold and traded all the time.

The easiest way to buy is to contact a dealer or collector who is involved in the hobby. The best way to meet these individuals is by attending one of the many comic book conventions around the world. In the United States, the best shows for this are the San Diego Comicon in August, the Chicago Comicon over July fourth weekend every year and the various New York conventions. The San Diego Con, which has the largest selection of art dealers, also has the largest selection of art available because many dealers and collectors save their best items for display at this show.

Other sources are the artists themselves who may sell or donate their art. Several museums, including the Cartoon Art Museum in San Francisco, actively sell original art as part of the maintenance of their museum.

The most difficult hurdle many newcomers face is how to determine what price can be paid and leave you, the purchaser, with the most gratifying feeling after the purchase. This is easily accomplished by using the same type of price comparison that you would at the supermarket. For instance, if five dealers are offering artwork of a similar nature — the price should be just as similar. There are, however, many exceptions to this rule. Although the pieces may have similarities, each is still entirely unique. You could have ten examples by a single artist and nine of them could all be similar enough that there would be little price variation. The tenth item, however, could be one of the more striking images, it could be a particularly famous image, or it may have an extraordinary value to just one collector, and this piece could be valued at many multiples of the prices associated with the other nine. Therefore, the individuality of artwork creates a dynamic all its own. One example might be the work of the late Milton Caniff. Caniff was the artist and creator of Terry & the Pirates from 1934 to 1946, and latterly Steve Canyon. His Terry daily strip originals from the period 1936-38 are highly sought-after and sell generally in the $300 to $500 range. But the dailies dated 2-6-36 and 10-7-39 recently traded for $2000 and $3000 respectively. The example from 1936 is said by some to be the finest single example of the chiaroscuro technique Caniff employed.

Hal Foster, who drew Prince Valiant for over 30 years, is one of the most popular artists of the field and his originals trade for wildly varying prices depending on the vintage. Pages from the 1960's might sell for as low as $1000 today, but originals from the early years trade for as much as $20,000, and sometimes even more.

What might be the most financially rewarding area of comic art in the coming years may be Silver Age comic book art. The Silver Age period is roughly measured as 1954 to 1972. This period coincides directly with the age of the Baby Boomers, the largest consumer groups in today's economy. Items from this period are escalating in value at such a quick pace that investment potential is excellent even for the novice collector. Who is the most popular of these Silver Age artists? The king of the hill is Jack ("the King") Kirby. He drew more comic pages than any comic artist living or dead. For Marvel comics alone Kirby drew tens of thousands of pages and more than 1,000 covers from 1957 to 1972. Still, the prices on his work continue to rise, largely due to just a few collectors. This handful of collectors will pay more than almost any other collector, exemplifying the difference in interest from one collector to the next. The average price range is $100 to $500 per page for Kirby superhero pages, less for western and horror. For the right item, matched with these few collectors — the sky is the limit!

So what's the best way to collect? If you are price conscious, do some comparison shopping. Subscribe to dealers lists, publications like Comics Source, go to conventions and talk to collectors and dealers who are willing to help you. However, don't get caught up in profit before nostalgia. $

What might be the most financially rewarding area of comic art in the coming years may be Silver Age comic book art, roughly from 1954 to 1972. This period coincides directly with the age of the Baby Boomers, the largest consumer group in today's economy, so the investment potential is excellent.

Valiant Sales Up, DC Down
"Death" Is All That's Keeping DC Alive

By Howard Beck

CLIFTON, N.J. — This seems to be the month of the Marvel gimmick cover. Sales of these books do not seem to be much higher than normal. What Marvel doesn't want to understand is that there is only a certain amount of money out there. The only title with increased sales is Avengers 360. This cover is different and people do like it. It doesn't hurt that the story isn't bad.

Punisher 2099 number 1 is hot. The story is excellent (so far) and there is plenty of gore to keep the kids happy. I hope that the pattern that the other books seem to be following doesn't occur here. Ravage sales have gone from brisk to slow, Doom books are nothing spectacular and Spiderman are nothing to write home about either. We'll wait and see about the X-men series due out soon.

Superman sales have skidded to a halt. DC's announcing the return of Superman in the middle of the storyline has turned off readers, and sales are reflecting this.

The only really hot Marvel book today seems to be Ren & Stimpy. After four issues, demand definitely seems to be going strong. Besides this even the X-Men seems to be stagnating sales wise.

Besides Death, DC seems to have died a quick one. Superman sales have skidded to a halt. DC's announcing the return of Superman, in the middle of the storyline has turned off readers and sales are reflecting this. Superman 75 bagged, which a month ago was selling for $35, is barely going for $15.

Death is selling fantastically. Right now I would rate this book as a high selling Marvel or Image book. If the rest of the Vertigo line is done as well, I expect good things ahead. It was a good idea to give these titles their own line.

Animal Man sales have picked up as well. Before Vertigo, I might go for months without selling a single issue. So far I have had to reorder twice. Hellblazer, Swamp Thing and Shade still haven't caught on too well. Sandman does decently at shows and colleges.

Apart from these titles, DC doesn't sell well at all. Justice League is slowing down and Flash does nothing.

A positive note: There is some interest in Legion of Super Heroes. I read #41 and thought it was pretty good. It had some exuberance to it. I hope that keeps up. If it does, it could become a DC flagship title again.

Each month Valiant seems to pick up more and more steam. I have tripled my orders in the last three months and reorders are becoming more common. Everyone is checking to see what new characters are slated to begin and anticipation is definitely high for Rai 9.

Bloodshot seems to be the most popular title. Sales have increased each month and I expect this to continue. This book also has a violent protagonist and much gore and dismemberment. It could become Valiant's Wolverine.

However, Valiant sales do not fit the normal trends. Back issues sell better than the new books. I think that if I held them for a month, put a higher price on them, and stuck them in my back issue table, I'd make out like a bandit. A good example is Hard Corp #1. I didn't sell five of them new. I stuck ten of them in my table, with a $5.00 price tag on them, and they were gone in a couple of days. There are other examples of this but space won't allow me to voice them.

I still feel that Valiant is an investor's comic. People who buy them, check the guides to see which ones go up, and then buy them.

There are still no dead Valiants.

Image's Pitt #1 has arrived finally and it is a winner. Spawn seems to keep on trucking and any other book sells out in days. I am anxiously awaiting the release of Wetworks. I have people waiting for this book and they wanted it months ago. Customers are getting tired of this.

There are no slow Image books. They don't come out fast enough to qualify.

Each month Valiant seems to pick up more and more steam. Everyone is checking to see what new characters are slated to begin and anticipation is definitely high for "Rai" 9.

Fair Trade?
Low overhead gives some comic sellers a big advantage

By Rick Sambucini

Comic book store owners struggle in a comic price war against flea market vendors and show dealers.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS — Since this is my first market report for Comics Source, I would like to give a Great Big Texas-Sized Hello to all the readers, congratulate Jon on this endeavor, and wish him the best of luck.

I will make my first market analysis brief and then discuss a topic which troubles me greatly as a retailer. Here is my market analysis:

(1) All Valiant titles sell very well, new off the rack or as back issues. This is due in part to on time shipping and a very well written story continuity between the various titles.

(2) All Image titles sell well ... when they ship.

(3) After twenty some odd years of undeserved neglect, 70's Jack Kirby titles are finally coming to the attention of collectors and speculators (yes, there is a difference). The high grade books which may surface quickly disappear. (Just try and find a Mint Kamandi #2). As a youth on a very long and boring family vacation, I was introduced to the world of Super-Hero comics via Kamandi #32. Thanks Jack.

The topic at the top of my gripe list concerns the selling policy of the major comic distributors. This policy is simply: If you have a tax number, then you may buy comics.

The problem with this policy is that in the two years since my retail comic store,

Rick Sambucini is owner and operator of Collector's Asylum, 12311 Nacogdoches, Suite 104, San Antonio, Texas. (1-210-590-6310)

Collectors' Asylum, was founded, the number of comic dealers in San Antonio has quadrupled while only three new stores have opened. These new dealers are either baseball card shops which now carry comics or flea market vendors and weekend show dealers.

Now do not misunderstand the point being made here. Fair competition is always welcome because it provides the consumer with choices and regulates, in part, the pricing of comics. The question is, how can a store owner with lots of overhead compete on equal terms with a flea market vendor or weekend show dealer with little or no overhead for the new issue business? Some of these dealers without stores offer discounts starting at 25 percent and up. This crowded marketplace for new issue business is a direct result of this ineffective selling policy.

It is the responsibility of the major comic distributors to develop a set of guidelines which would allow all retailers to compete on equal terms for the new issue market. These guidelines should be enforced and include owning a store. (How many retailers out there were asked to submit a photo of their store before an account could be opened? I was not.)

I would very much like to hear from other retailers about their opinions on this topic.

How can a store owner with lots of overhead compete on equal terms with a flea market vendor or weekend show dealer who has little or no overhead for the new issue business?

¿ QUESTION OF THE MONTH ?

Are comics a good investment?

Yes, but ... by this I mean certain comics are a good investment. These certain comics include key issues of Golden or Silver Age titles in high grade, not recent Valiant, Image or the Death of Superman titles. One of the main reasons key, high grade Silver/Golden Age books are a good investment is because of their scarcity. If the supply cannot meet the demand (scarcity) then the price will rise until a temporary balance is achieved. So to wrap up, instead of buying a gold and platinum Unity #1 set for $200, try and find a mint Showcase 55 for guide (good luck!). Because in one year the hard-to-find Showcase 55 will still be sought after, while the plentiful gold and silver Unity #1 may be forgotten in the stampede to buy the latest hot issues.

Comics Economics
It's Worth Whatever You'll Pay

By William Christensen & Mark Seifert

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Due to a busy schedule this month, we've had to write this market report a mere two weeks after writing the last one. At first we feared this would leave us with very little to say, but as usual, there's enough interesting new developments in the comic market to take up 10 times the space we're allotted. That's quite a testament to the current health of the hobby, and it also brings to mind a phone conversation we had recently. A gentleman had called to ask about our current prices on a few Valiant books, including Rai #3 and #4, and Magnus #12. When informed of our retail (which was $75 each for Rai #3 and #4 and $100 for Magnus #12 at that time) his response was "Gah!!!" What's wrong with guide price?" Indeed, not a day goes by that we aren't asked "Which guide do you go by?" or something similar.

Retailers don't — or shouldn't — "go by" any guide; it's the guides that "go by" or reflect the prices retailers are charging.

The answer seems obvious once you think about it, but clearly it's worth spelling out: Retailers don't (or shouldn't!) "go by" any guide. It's the guides that go by (reflect) the prices retailers are charging. If the price a retailer is charging seems out of line with your view of the book's worth, the proper question to ask is, "What are you basing that price on?" More often than not, expecially in the volatile recent-book market, the answer you'll get is based on the price your retailer had to pay to get that book, or on what he will have to pay to replace each copy sold. What's more, remember that some retailers are playing the same game you are. You're buying the book because you think it's going to go up in value, he may be selling the book at above cover because he thinks it's going to go up in value. Obviously, if all dealers always priced books at guide price, and guide always reflected the current market value, then the value of any given comic would never change.

If you've been collecting for any time at all, you've heard the "the book is worth exactly what you'll pay for it" line a million times by now. That's an indisputable truth, but all individual buy/sell situations are more complex than that, and that's where the usefulness of price guides becomes apparent. The uniqueness of every situation blurs the definition of "market value." For example, if you really want a Ren & Stimpy

William Christensen and Mark Seifert own and operate Comic Calvacade, 502 East John Street, Champaign, Ill. (217-384-2211).

#1, and we happen to be selling them for $20, is the book worth $20? It depends. Are you willing to look around for a cheaper price? Do you know someone else that has copies? Is it worth your time and effort to find those other copies? Only you can answer those questions, and that sometimes makes the term "market value" as it applies to comics meaningless. A guide is useful in a case like this only if you know how the prices are derived. Were dealers in your area asked about their prices on this book? Is the book simply too recent to be accurately reflected in the guide? Guides have a minimum of a two month lead time. If the guide just came out, and the book has come out in the last two months, it's virtually impossible for the guide price to reflect anything other than cover price. The bottom line is that any guide is only useful if the collector (1) knows how it was derived and (2) knows how to apply his knowledge in each given situation.

Of course, this leaves beginning collectors out in the cold. How are you supposed to apply knowledge that you don't have? Our advice would be to watch advertisements as much as you watch price guides. See first hand the correlation between guide and asking price on new and recent books, and Silver and Golden Age books. Start out slow, and never, ever spend more than you can afford to lose.

Valiant Comics wins the prize for being the publisher with the largest differentiation between current "guide price" (any guide, take your pick) and our current retail. Last report, we mentioned Magnus #12 at $70, and Rai #3 and #4 at $60 per. We now have them at $150 and $100 respectively. Who knows what it'll be by the time this sees print? If you're thinking prices are escalating a lot faster than they used to, you're right. Around Cavalcade, this has come to be known as the "Superman #75/Sprint" phenomenon. The combination of the proliferation of mail order dealers along with the existence of 3 or 4 major long-distance phone companies in competition means that any collector can access hundreds of retailers at dirt-cheap phone rates. It doesn't take much thought to realize the results of this trend as the number of collectors continues to increase. Chain reactions can start that cause price trends to ripple across the country in a matter of hours.

Chain reactions can start that cause price trends to ripple across the country in a matter of hours.

Image books are not too far behind Valiant in this respect. No matter what you may think about these in terms of quality, the books deserve admiration due to the shear quantity of new collectors they bring to the hobby. No matter how many thousands (millions?) are put on stands in comic shops initially, the demand is still strong six months later. That staying power is an important indicator of consumer confidence in the product. Collectors seem to feel that Image will iron out their scheduling problems eventually. As long as this confidence continues, key issues will continue to rise in value.

In November, when dealer prices on Superman #75 zipped to $35 literally overnight, comic speculation doomsayers everywhere saw their chance to berate any retailer who would dare charge over cover price for any comic ever. Cries of "remember the death of Robin!" were echoed through the pages of fandom press. Most "experts" felt sure that the moment DC announced the big guy's return, prices would plummet and speculators would be taught a lesson once and for all. That scenario just hasn't materialized. Bagged Superman #75's are tougher to get than before, dealer buy prices are escalating, and demand is as strong as ever.

Where does all the insanity over recent Valiant, Image, and Superman leave Marvel? "In the dust" is the response that comes to mind. Their reaction to the rising challenge of the other publishers has been to increase the sheer number of titles they produce as well as the frequency of enhanced covers. As a speculator, it's important that you understand Marvel's motivations. They want to increase their marketshare as well as the total number of units they sell. In their position as market leaders, those goals do not necessarily coincide with the goal of a publisher making books "collectible." Smaller publishers often try to make books collectible as a tactic to sell more copies. Marvel wants to make their product as a whole more consumable rather than more collectable. Therefore, speculators need to be wary of this product as an investment. You can still read the hell out of some of them, though.

¿ QUESTION OF THE MONTH ?

Are comics a good investment?

As we hinted at earlier, the answer depends on your individual situation. Comics are investible. Speculators can and do buy comics to sell at a profit. As in any other circumstance, you can play here if you know the rules. Investing in comics is like investing in any other commodity in a couple of wasy:

(1) The greater your knowledge of what you're investing in, the more likely you are to realize a profit.

(2) The greater the profit potential in a given situation, the greater the risk is.

But comics differ in one important way, and that is in the sell situation. You can't just call your comic broker and tell him to sell all your Turok #1's at current market value. You've got to be willing to call dealers and go to conventions and visit your local stores. Buying is easy, but selling requires effort and expertise.

Gimmick Covers Vs. Story
Reading Comics Is Half The Fun

By Bruno Andreacchi

LONDON, ONTARIO—Rather than echo the usual information yet again, let me expound in a different direction. Consider this report to be an open letter to the comics industry, aimed at everyone from publishers to speculators.

Never mind the pocketbook; new comics are a drain on the soul. Week after week after furshlugginer week, a fresh batch of comics comes in and, what used to be an extreme joy — ever since I began retailing in 1984 — akin to opening Christmas presents approximately every seven days, is fast becoming a tedious exercise in professional and personal frustration.

What used to be an extreme joy akin to opening Christmas presents approximately every seven days, is fast becoming a tedious exercise in professional and personal frustration.

Professionally, I can't help but cringe at the latest array of books that sport gimmick covers (an increasingly plural occurrence), as if the book is somehow "lacking" without one. Sure, some customers go "Ooh" and "Aah" but they rarely pick up the next issue, which means that, unless the comic in question happens to be a self-contained story (an unfortunate anachronism, these days), they're only reading a single part of a whole, only a chapter from a so-called novel. I'm being generously optimistic; we all know that a significant number of these buyers have no intention of actually reading a "gimmick issue" at all. God forbid! Buy it, bag it, file it, and forget it!

"It's an investment! If I read it, it won't be mint anymore!"

Either that, or these people suffer from a profound lack of curiosity.

When did this madness begin?

Imagine this nonsense happening several years ago, circa the X-Men's "Dark Phoenix Saga." Then, imagine further if issue #135 were an anniversary issue and that it came out with a foil-enhanced cover, prompting speculators to buy multiple copies (or even one) of that issue and that issue only! Imagine what they would have missed: The team of Claremont & Byrne had hit their creative stride. Despite its flaws, the story was carefully set up over the course of many issues, was well crafted, and the revisionist ending was powerful as well as controversial. All this would have been lost and inconsequential to anyone except readers. The readers. A dying breed.

Let's try another example. 1986 was watershed year for the comics industry, heralding the release of two monumental titles — Batman: Dark Knight Returns and The Watchmen. Those of us who were there remember the excitement generated at the time, and we count ourselves fortunate, indeed, to witness such history.

Remember #6 of The Watchmen, the Rorschach origin issue? Now imagine an enhanced-movement ink blot cover on it.

"I see a buh-butterfly with torn wings."

"Gee, I dunno... I see two pitbull terriers with adamantine claws tearing at each other, and I think this over here is a cactus."

What a helluva scary image this scenario conjures up! I can't fathom anyone actually choosing to read (or have) only a portion of one of the greatest super-hero stories to ever see print in the fifty-plus years of the spandex genre! My soul shrivels at the mere thought of it.

Believe me, I'm not saying that today's gimmick covers adorning so many new books are "marring any classics," by any means. My point is that an artistic achievement like The Watchman, if it were to be published today, would not escape the gimmick era unscathed.

(And before any nay-sayers jump up and down proclaiming that The Watchmen did, indeed have special covers, let me emphatically disabuse them of that notion right away. They were innovative and iconoclastic, a daring experiment in format that worked. If anything, people were puzzled by the cover images. Fans weren't buying it because of the covers at all; they were buying it in spite of the covers! Some people didn't know what to make of the covers at all, but it didn't matter a whit to them. They were buying it for the story. THE STORY. Fans of Moore (and Gibbons) knew they would get their money's worth. As for non-fans, well, I was praising and recommending the title every month to anyone within earshot. (I still do.)

I am sincerely grateful that The Watchman came out back then and not now.

Personally, as a comics fan and collector for thirty years, it pains me that good stories are lost amongst the barrage of products that assaults us, and insults us, every week, with no let up in sight. Writers like Moore and Gaiman are exceptions to the rule in this "art is everything" climate (make that "pretty pictures and glitzy covers are everything") that pervades the comics industry like a virulent plague.

Well, I didn't plan on getting carried away like that, so I guess this all bothers me more than I thought. Maybe I'll have some good things to report next month. Until then, READ, READ, READ!

Comic Sales On The Rise Thanks To Superman As Well As Some New Faces

By Rich Conley

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS — Happy Spring from San Antonio! I know it may still be cold and white up north, but we're deep into planting our first vegetable crops and already mowing the lawn. It's not only the weather that's heating up, but also the Comics Market: Let's talk about it ...

New comics are what attracts our customers week after week — and there continues to be new titles, different cover gimmicks, bagged/packaged goodies, and premium formats to boggle, excite, and, unfortunately, distress the minds of the regular reader/saver. Like most comic specialty shops, we've seen a large increase in new comics sales, but much of it is due to the high-priced "special" issues. A recent poll of our subscription customers showed an increasing level of dissatisfaction with this trend toward higher-priced, fancy and gimmicky books. Many of the collectors are trimming titles from their buy lists as a result of their budget squeeze. Publishers take note! Don't over-do it! The long term health of this hobby will be impacted by its affordability and image (not "the" Image).

The most important thing I can report is the large increase in readership base, the underlying foundation of this industry.

Over the past month we've done a Valiant experiment. We intentionally ordered double our usual number each title — we were getting frustrated over always being sold out before the next issue shipped. Well, now we're certain there IS a limit to the collector demand for these books. In our part of the world, the in-store demand for the "average" Valiant issue is about 20 percent of the demand for the "average" X-Men issue. I bet a lot of money is going to be lost by the new speculators ... We have the "luxury" of a warehouse where we sell to small local resellers and handle mail order operations. This business has exploded, too — but here the mix of Valiant titles has grown as a percentage of the whole.

BUT! This report is not gloom and doom. The most important thing I can report is the large increase in readership base, the underlying foundation of this industry. Since the death of the Big "S" our number of in-store subscriptions has nearly doubled in each of our eight retail outlets! Yes, there has been a change in the subscription/shelf sales ratios, but overall, both sales lines have increased. Along with the increase in new book readership, has come a corresponding increase in back issue sales. Just as in years past, the new fan wants to read and enjoy the "history" of his new-found friends. Inexpensive issues of previously thought-to-be-dead titles are moving out of the stores in record numbers, making the restocking chore a never-ending task.

The hottest new issues are still those containing the most popular characters: Spider-Man, Venom, Wolverine, Mutants, Superman (dead or alive), and Spawn. Cult followings have caused a supply/demand imbalance in titles such as Ren & Stimpy and Simpsons, but to call these truly HOT is erroneous. Just take a look at Howard the Duck.

We have little to report in the "remarkable prices achieved" area, but we have had to raise prices on Shadowhawk #3 ($4.00), Spider-Man 2099 #1 ($5.00), and Punisher 2099 #1 ($3.00) in order to be able to continue supplying these books. Watch the Image coupon books as Feb. 27 arrives — the day the coupons turn back into pumpkins. I, personally, am of the opinion that there should be no difference in price between the books after this date; the coupons were not put on a page that would affect the book itself. If they DO impact the price, then I suggest that every collector needs to look at his or her Amazing Spider-Man #129 to see if it still has the cardboard centerfold ad page inside it! If yours still has the ad page attached, multiply its value by the same relationship as the Shadowhawk #1 with/without coupon — It could be a $1,000 book! Ridiculous? Maybe.

Finishing up the discussion on new comics, we, the retailers, need to keep our customers reading the books. The more they enjoy the books, the more they'll buy (hopefully, more titles, not more copies of the same one). As both a retailer and collector/reader, I appreciate many of the attractive covers, but I want the book to have substance — a good story and good artwork. Without the interest to read the book from cover to cover, it won't stay long in my collection.

A recent poll of our subscription customers showed an increasing level of dissatisfaction with this trend toward higher-priced, fancy and gimmicky comic books.

BACK ISSUES. Let's start way back, with Golden Age material ... It still sells, but none of it is really hot. The number of Golden Age collectors is dwarfed by the number of Silver Age and current comics fans. Still, however, supply falls short of demand for key issues and for those with currently active characters (e.g.. Batman, Captain America, etc.). We sell solid VG grade issues faster than mid-to-high grade material. We are very interested in how well the items we put in the latest Comics Source will sell.

Early Silver Age books (first 10 to 20 of a title) sell faster and at closer-to-guide prices than their successors. Marvels in lower grade sell better than lower grade DCs. For example, we've had a G/G- Showcase 22 for two years, and have kept the price at $250 for the entire time.

As I write this report, it is still available. On the other hand, we have not been able to keep a copy of Spider-Man #1 on hand — five in the Fair to Very Good range sold within a week of procuring them. High grade books from both publishers sell briskly when fairly prices.

My advice to the Investor/Speculator: Treat each investment objectively, set your sell price or sales date right as you make the purchase. This way you will not get attached to your investment.

My advice to the Investor/Collector: Determine WHY you want the item, and enjoy it for what it is. Your objective should be more than financial appreciation; it should be personal appreciation. It becomes difficult to put a price tag on personal satisfaction.

My advice to the Reader/Collector: Keep enjoying this hobby. You are its lifeblood. I started this way and so did many other retailers and investors.

¿ QUESTION OF THE MONTH ?

Are comics a good investment?

YES! And let me validate it.

I have been in comics as a business for ten years, and a collector for 30. In all of this time I have never seen a time where one could claim to be a comic book reader/collector without enduring some level of ridicule or disdain - UNTIL NOW! I am amazed at the number of 30 to 50-year-old fans who are now "coming out of the closet" and buying comics. Their motives may be to recapture some of their youth, start a new hobby, expand their entertainment horizons, or merely to share their child's interest. There are more female collectors than I ever remember seeing, too! As long as the publishers continue to produce quality material at affordable prices, we will have a growing market. And, as it would be impossible to reprint every old comic, I believe we'll have a steadily growing demand for vintage issues.

As I stated in my market report, the underlying strength of this industry is the large base of reader/saver collectors. Because a comic can be read in a matter of minutes, a true fan often has the appetite for, and can make enough time available for reading many issues a week. Most collectors started out as recreational readers who got "hooked" on a certain character or genre. With the ever increasing number of new titles and themes appearing in print, we expect to see a further increase in readership — a larger overall market for comics, both new and old.

SPECIAL REPORT

Key Silver Age A Sure Bet For Investors

By Don Gallo & Thomas Fish

HASTINGS-ON-HUDSON, N.Y. — Comic Books can be an outstanding investment ... if you buy right. Most people don't. I see is more and more people investing in overproduced new issues with fancy covers. The price guide shows these books are increasing monthly. Some books list between $5 and $10 but you can go to a convention and pick them up for cover or less! From a sales point, these new issues are great; I sell out every month. From an investor's point ... well, it's fool's gold. Of course, there are many books published which do increase in value. A few examples are Shadowhawk 1, Spawn 2 and 3, and Magnus 12 to name a few. Also, many books you may see at cons for cover might eventually dry up. Why gamble on new issues when you can invest in a sure thing, something that will never go down?

Silver Age books, especially key issues, never go down.

That brings us back to my opening line about "buying right." "Buying right" is what I have been advising my customers to do from the start. BUY KEY SILVER AGE! I have customers who spend between $50 and $200 per month on multiple copies of new issues. On these people I try to push any key Silver Age I can. I explain to them I am not trying to get more money out of them. (On the contrary, I make less). But rather I want them to buy a sure thing. Silver Age books, especially key issues, never go down.

Selling key Silver Age also benefits me as a dealer. I feel comfortable selling it. I know that one day this person will want to sell it back to me, and I will be more than happy to buy them back. On the other hand, if a person came in with boxes of back issues, a dealer would only buy the good stuff, which is usually about 5 to 10 percent of everything. In this case, you are going to lose.

I recently sold an Amazing Spiderman 14 in VF/NM condition for $850 to an investor who usually spent about $50 a week on new issues, a man who never bought a Silver Age book in his life. After telling him about Silver Age and that the Spidey 14 would be a much better investment than the stacks of new issues he had been buying monthly, he trusted me enough to pull the trigger. Now, instead of spending $50 a week on new issues, he puts that money towards the Spidey 14. (Hint — time payments work out great!) He did the right thing. He will not lose.

Now, if you weren't before, you may be at least a little bit interested in Silver Age but also a bit skeptical about spending hundreds of dollars on something you know nothing about. I suggest finding a dealer who deals in Silver Age and talk to him or her. Many stores have silver age but really do not deal in it while some stores are afraid of it because they just don't know it or are afraid they are not going to double their money by next week. See if the dealer accepts time payments. I accept them and a dealer would be foolish not to. One question still remains, "What is considered key Silver Age?" My answer to that is, "I'll tell you next month."

HOW TO ORDER

All comics in the Comics Price Index are for sale. A "Seller ID" code can be found at the end of each listing that indicates who the seller is. To simplify placing orders, we recommend these steps:

1. Make a list of all books you want to buy, arrange it by "Seller ID," then title, issue #, item #, grade, and price.
2. Use the "Seller's Directory - Who To Contact" at right to locate the address and telephone number of each seller on your list.
3. Phone your order in with credit card information, or mail the order form provided on page XXX to the seller with payment, including appropriate shipping charges. Use a different order form for each seller. Mail your order to the seller, not to Comics Source.
4. If you place a hold on any books, be sure to promptly send payment directly to the seller. If you don't send payment within 7 days, you lose the book.
7. If you ever have an unresolved problem with any of your orders please contact the publishers of this magazine.

If you have books you would like to sell read the "Seller Listing Form" in the back of this issue.

STANDARD MAIL-ORDER TERMS

These terms apply to all sellers unless otherwise indicated, contct individual sellers for additional terms such as discounts, credit card availability, or special terms.

PAYMENT: with order unless prior arrangements are made. Personal checks must clear.

SHIPPING CHARGE: USPS or UPS ground is $5 within continental U.S. for most orders, extra charge for Canada & Overseas or overweight. Fed EX, Blue Label, etc. is available for an extra charge.

PLACE YOUR ORDER: By mail or phone. All orders shipped within 2 working days. Phone orders must either be paid by credit card or placed on hold for 7 days. If not paid within 7 days items are placed back in stock. Mail orders should list alternate choices when possible, but alternates are used only in the event your first choice is sold.

PHOTOS: Most sellers can provide a photo or photocopy but usually request a $1.00 fee to cover the time and expense.

GRADING: Standard grading terms apply. Consult "Making The Grade" elsewhere in this issue for details about the different grades/conditions of comic books.

DISCOUNTS: Most sellers offer a 10 percent courtesy discount to bona-fide retailers. This is optional. Most ask to see a letterhead, copy of business license or resale # to qualify. Inquire.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED! Return any item within 6 days for a prompt refund.

HOW TO QUOTE

The Comics Buyers Index contains listings of books that collectors are wanting to buy. There is a "Buyer ID" code at the end of each listing that tells you who the buyer is. To simplify the job of offering your books to each buyer, we recommend these steps:

1. Make a list of all books you have that are wanted. Arrange the list by title, issue #, grade, and price. Put the "Buyer ID" code next to each of your books.
2. Use the "BUYERS DIRECTORY - Who To Contact" (starting on the next page) to locate the address and telephone number of each buyer on your list.
3. If you like, call each buyer to verify that the books are still needed.
4. If the buyer asks for a photo or Xerox copy, be sure to send it as quickly as possible.
5. Read the "Standard Quoting Rules" and abide by them.
6. Send a letter to the seller with your name, address, and telephone number , and a complete description of each book you have on his wantlist, listing the price you are asking. If possible, send a photocopy of the front and back cover of the book (this helps assure the buyer of the grade and improves your response). Keep a copy of your letter for your records. Include a self-addressed stamped envelope for the buyer to send his reply.
7. Hold the book aside for 7 days. If you don't hear from the buyer within 7 days return the book to your inventory.

If there are books you can't find in your area, use Comics Source to "go national." Read the "Buyer Listing Form" in the back of this issue to find out how.

STANDARD QUOTING RULES

These rules are modelled after the "Antiquarian Bookman" format. Quoting is the preferred way of doing business in the rare book trade. They have perfected the art of quoting. Here are standard rules they use:

PAYMENT: Buyer sends payment first.

SHIPMENT: Seller is expected to ship the order within two working days.

SHIPPING CHARGE: Buyer must add sufficient shipping cost to cover shipping and insurance. If the buyer opts to have the order shipped without insurance and the order is lost, the buyer suffers the loss. Always insure!

PHOTOS: Most quoters send a photo or Xerox copy as verification of ownership and to illustrate condition.

GRADING: Standard grading terms apply. Consult "Making The Grade" elsewhere in this issue for more details about the different grades/conditions of comic books.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED! If the buyer is unhappy with any book for any reason he may return it (in the same condition as sent) within 6 days for a refund. Sellers should allow the appropriate time to pass before spending the funds.

FOR JUST A BUCK, YOUR "COMIC WANTED" AD WILL APPEAR FOR THREE CONSECUTIVE MONTHS IN "COMICS SOURCE" AND WILL BE SEEN BY THOUSANDS OF COMIC BOOK COLLECTORS AND RETAILERS.

Just fill out the BUYERS LISTINGS FORM at the back of this magazine, and then fax, mail or phone it in!

Deadline: 1st Day Of Every Month

All comics listed are WANTED! Contact the Buyer using the Buyer ID.
Refer to Buyers Directory at the end of this section for Buyer's address & instructions.

BUYERS LISTING FORM

How To List Your Buyers Ads in Comics Source

1. Complete the PERSONAL INFORMATION FORM on page 87 and read the Standard Listing Terms. Be aware that you are expected to abide by the terms as stated.
2. Fill out the listing form:
   TITLE: Use the EXACT title found on the indicia (small print lower first page). If the title was used by different companies or series (ex: Marvel Tales) indicate the publisher/date.
   ISSUE #: The issue number of the book. Example: X-Men #s 1-10 counts as 10 listings for a total of $10. In our format, each book is listed individually.
   MINIMUM GRADE: Indicate the lowest grade that you will accept. Refer to "Making The Grade" elsewhere in this issue for correct abbreviations.
   PRICE (OPTIONAL): The exact price you are willing to pay for the book. Don't put "50% guide" or some similar range. Be realistic; don't offer $50 for a $500 book — you'd just be wasting your listing money. You are not required to state a price you will pay, but we recommend that you do. You will get better responses.
   OFFICE USE: Leave this area blank.
3. MAIL, PHONE, or FAX your listings to us. We must receive your forms by the deadline (the first day of the month) for them to appear in the next issue.
4. Include payment (we accept Mastercard, Visa or check). Listing fee is $1 per book.
   We will include your listings in the next available issue, and the next two issues after that (at no extra charge)! Once per month please inform us of the books you have obtained so we can delete them from the database. We also mail monthly inventory reports which you should update and return to us.

How To Respond To Quotes

1. Get a supply of pre-stamped postcards from the post office.
2. Reply to everyone who sends you a quote. If someone takes the time to write, then they deserve a reply.
3. Allow enough time for all quotes to come in. This way you can compare prices and grades before you make a buying decision.
4. When you decide to purchase a book, take some precautions if you have never dealt with the person before:
   • Talk on the phone. Get the person's name, address, and telephone number. Is the person a store owner/dealer, or a private individual? Ask for references.
   • Get a complete description. Ask to see a photocopy if the book is very expensive. Ask about a return privilege if you are unhappy with the book. If you plan to spend a large sum of money, the seller should be willing to help you in every way possible.
5. Finally, send your payment promptly. If you agree on a price, then follow through without delay.

Standard Listing Terms

We publish the following standard listing rules and ask that all buyers abide by them.

LIST ONLY WHAT YOU WILL BUY! Don't list wants that you have no intention of buying. If you offer to buy it, be prepared to back it up.

ANSWER EVERY QUOTE. If someone takes the time to offer you a book on your wantlist, you owe them the courtesy of a reply, even if you have already acquired the book.

SEND PAYMENTS PROMPTLY. If you agree to buy a book from someone, don't delay sending the payment. Most sellers will only hold a book for 10 days at most.

Listing Rates

Your listing fee pays for 3 consecutive issues automatically. That's 90 days of exposure for one low price! The fee is a flat $1.00 per book for BUY listings.
DELETIONS: No charge. CHANGES: 50¢ per listing.

SELLERS LISTING FORMS

How To Sell Comics In Comics Source

1. Complete the PERSONAL INFORMATION FORM on page 90 and READ the Standard Mail-Order Terms. Be aware that you are expected to abide by the terms as stated. Your terms can be more liberal (i.e. free shipping) if you wish. However, our published standard terms are the minimum.
2. GRADE your comics strictly and accurately.
3. Fill out the listing form, found on pages 91-93. Make photocopies if additional forms are needed.
   TITLE: Use the EXACT title found on the indicia (small print lower first page). If the title was used by different companies or series (ex: Marvel Tales) indicate the publisher/date.
   ISSUE #: The issue number of the book.
   GRADE: Refer to "Making The Grade" on page 94 for correct abbreviations.
   NOTES: Details about the book that help clarify the condition, or special notes about first appearances, etc. Please keep these notes as brief as possible. Notes must fit in the space provided.
   PRICE: The price you are asking for the book.
   OFFICE USE: Leave this area blank.
4. MAIL, PHONE, or FAX your listings to us. We must receive your forms by the deadline (first of the month) for them to appear in the next issue.
5. Include payment (we accept Mastercard, Visa or check). Listing prices are as follows:

Asking Price	Listing Fee
Up to $25	$1.00
$25 to $100	$1.50
$100 to $500	$2.00
$500 to $1000	$3.00
Over $1000	$5.00

We will include your listings in the next available issue, and the next two issues after that (at no extra charge)! As you sell books please inform us so we can delete them from the database. We also mail monthly inventory reports which you should update and return to us.
We offer discounted contract rates. Inquire.

How To Respond to Mail Orders

1. Buy a supply of padded mailers, mailing labels, and shipping tape. These are available at your local office supply store. Also get a supply of corrugated box cardboard. Cut the cardboard into comic-sized squares and sandwich the books between them. Package with extreme care to avoid any damage in shipment.
2. Always ship orders within two days.
3. If an item is already sold, send a refund check, not a credit form.
4. Always insure each order. UPS includes $100 insurance on every package at no charge, USPS does not.
5. Treat your buyers well, and they will buy again and again.

Standard Mail-Order Terms

We publish the following standard terms and ask that all sellers abide by them. If you offer additional terms or discounts, please note.
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED! Return any item within 6 days for a prompt refund.
PAYMENT: with order unless prior arrangements are made. Personal checks must clear.
SHIPPING CHARGE: USPS or UPS ground is $5 within continental U.S. for most orders, extra charge for Canada & Overseas or overweight. Fed EX, Blue Label, etc. is available for an extra charge.
ORDERS: By mail or phone. All orders shipped within 2 working days. Phone orders must either be paid by credit card or placed on hold for 7 days. If not paid within 7 days items are placed back in stock. Mail orders should list alternate choices when possible, but alternates are used only in the event your first choice is sold.
PHOTOS: Most sellers can provide a photo but usually request a $1.00 fee to cover the time and expense.
GRADING: Standard grading terms apply. If grading is not satisfactory, return item within 6 days for a prompt refund.
DISCOUNTS: Most sellers offer a 10% courtesy discount to bona-fide retailers. This is optional. Ask to see a letterhead, copy of business license or resale # to qualify.

Listing Rates

Your listing fee pays for 3 consecutive issues automatically. That's 90 days of exposure for one low price! The fee is based on the asking price of the comic book you are selling. If the price of the comic book is between 0 and $25, the listing fee is $1.00@; between $25 and $100, the fee is $1.50@; between $100 and $500, the fee is $2.00@; between $500 and $1000, the fee is $3.00@; over $1000, the fee is $5.00@. CHANGES: $1.00 per listing. PRICE REDUCTIONS: No charge. DELETIONS: No Charge.
INQUIRE ABOUT CONTRACT RATES! We offer bulk discounts for large quantities of listings each issue.

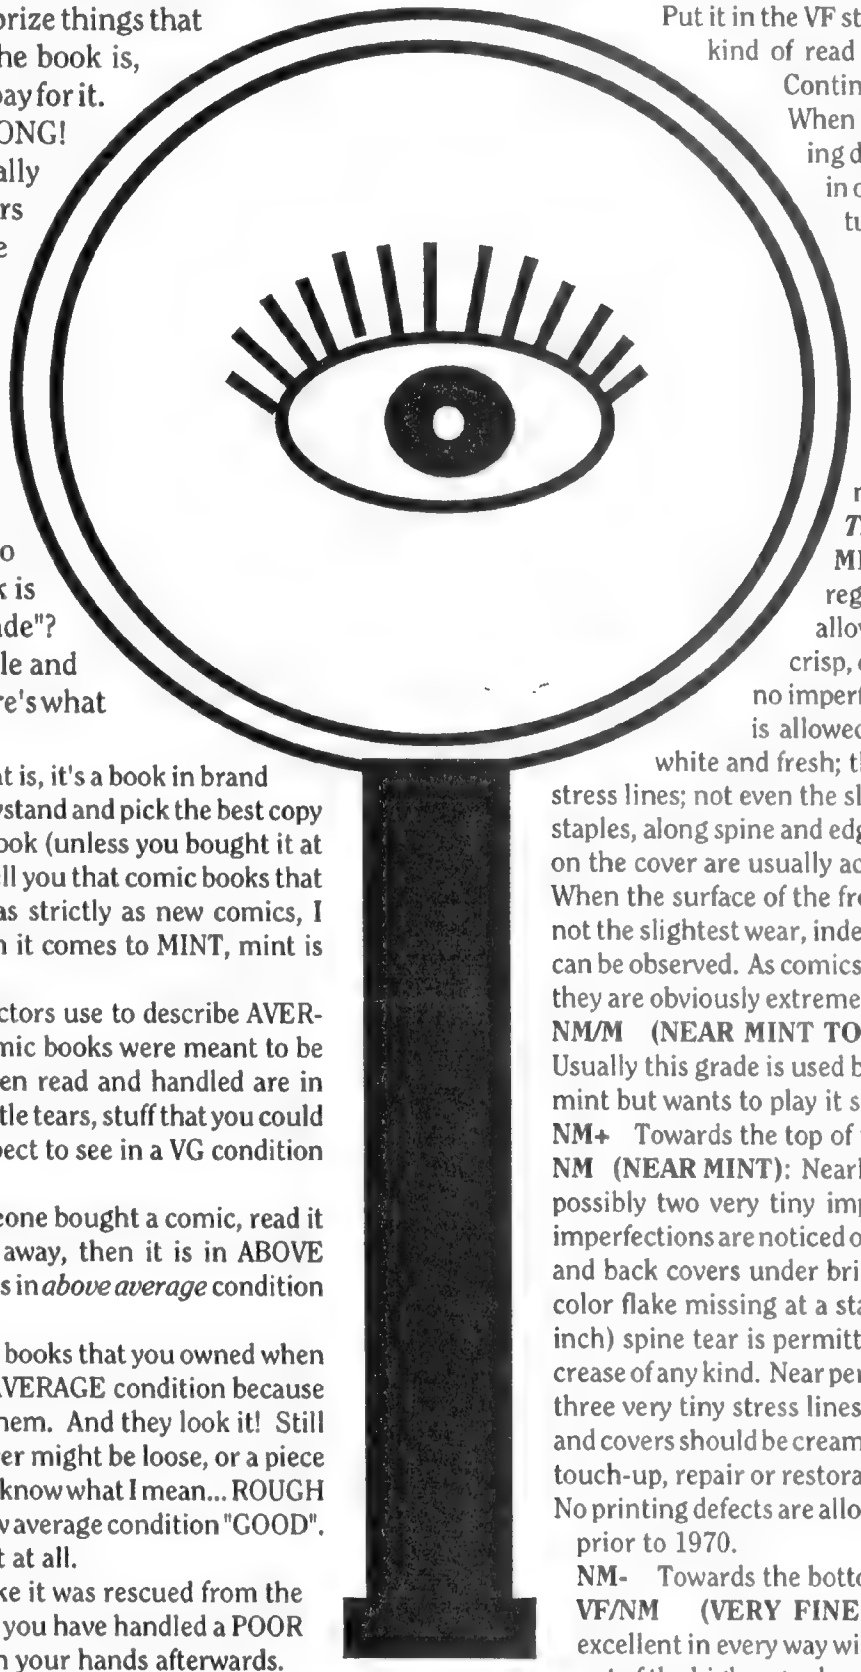
MAKING THE GRADE

By Jon R. Warren

Comic books, like movie posters, coins, stamps, sports cards, and everything else that people collect, are graded according to condition. Because human beings prize things that glitter, the more like brand new the book is, the higher the price collectors will pay for it. Seems simple enough, right? WRONG! Because talking about condition really means talking about money, buyers and sellers often have a hard time agreeing on the grade of a book. But, luckily, there are standard terms that everyone does agree on (what those terms mean is another story). Unluckily, it takes years of looking at thousands of variances of grade before you can really be a knowledgeable grader. So how do you know what grade a comic book is in if you are new at "making the grade"? Let me suggest that you start simple and then focus in on the final grade. Here's what I mean:



MINT: We all know what that is, it's a book in brand new condition. When you go to the newstand and pick the best copy you can find, that's probably a MINT book (unless you bought it at K-Mart). Although some dealers will tell you that comic books that are 30 or 40 years old aren't graded as strictly as new comics, I wouldn't buy that if I were you. When it comes to MINT, mint is mint. Period.

AVERAGE: The term collectors use to describe AVERAGE is VG, or VERY GOOD. Since comic books were meant to be read and handled, books that have been read and handled are in average condition. Creased corners, little tears, stuff that you could expect from normal use is what we expect to see in a VG condition book.

ABOVE AVERAGE: If someone bought a comic, read it once or twice, then carefully filed it away, then it is in ABOVE AVERAGE condition. We refer to comics in above average condition as VF or VERY FINE.

BELOW AVERAGE: Comic books that you owned when you were six years old are in BELOW AVERAGE condition because you probably beat the @@#$!! out of them. And they look it! Still complete with all its pages, but the cover might be loose, or a piece might be missing from the corner. You know what I mean... ROUGH ROUGH! Collectors call comics in below average condition "GOOD". Actually, there's nothing good about it at all.

POOR: A book that looks like it was rescued from the trash is in POOR condition. You know you have handled a POOR condition book when you rush to wash your hands afterwards.

Now that you know the 5 basic ranges of condition a book can be in, it is a much easier task to focus in on exactly what the real grade is. Try it yourself. Take a stack of your books and grade them. Is the first one in the stack just like the day you bought it except for a tiny bend on the corner? Then it's not MINT, but you could certainly say it is ABOVE AVERAGE. Put it in the VF stack. Does the next one in the stack look kind of read and re-read? Put it in the VG stack. Continue sorting the books by basic grades. When you are done, refer to the detailed grading descriptions shown below. You can focus in on the actual grade by reading these fine-tuning grading descriptions. The one that sounds the closest to the grade of your book is the actual grade.

Here are the terms that we comic book afficionados use to describe condition. Throughout the pages of Comics Source you will see these codes used to indicate grade. Memorize them, learn what they mean, and then you can start "Making The Grade".

MINT: Absolutely perfect in every way, regardless of age. No printing defects are allowed. The cover has full original gloss, is crisp, cut square with sharp corners and shows no imperfections of any sort. Minute color fading is allowed. The cover and all pages are creamy white and fresh; the spine is tight, flat, and clean with no stress lines; not even the slightest blemish can be detected around staples, along spine and edges or at corners. Arrival dates pencilled on the cover are usually acceptable so long as they are very small. When the surface of the front and back covers is held to the light, not the slightest wear, indentations, wrinkles or defects of any kind can be observed. As comics must be truly perfect to be in this grade, they are obviously extremely scarce and seldom are offered for sale.

NM/M (NEAR MINT TO MINT): A grade used to give a range. Usually this grade is used by someone who feels the book might be mint but wants to play it safe.

NM+ Towards the top of the NM category.

NM (NEAR MINT): Nearly perfect. Upon close inspection, one or possibly two very tiny imperfections can be found. Often these imperfections are noticed only when holding the surface of the front and back covers under bright light. Possibly a tiny (1/16th inch) color flake missing at a staple, corner or edge. Or, a tiny (1/16th inch) spine tear is permitted if no other defects are observed. No crease of any kind. Near perfect cover gloss retained. Not more than three very tiny stress lines along the spine may be present. Pages and covers should be creamy to white, not yellow or brown. No color touch-up, repair or restoration of any kind is allowed in this grade. No printing defects are allowed. This grade is also very rare in books prior to 1970.

NM- Towards the bottom of the NM category.

VF/NM (VERY FINE-NEAR MINT): Beautiful, glossy and excellent in every way with only minor imperfections that keep it out of the higher grades. One tiny corner crease of less than 1/8th inch length is allowed. Up to 6 tiny (1/16th inch) stress lines along the spine are acceptable if the eye appeal of the book is not seriously affected.

MAKING THE GRADE

Pages should be creamy at least. A common defect in this grade is a tiny spine tear at the upper or lower spine not greater than 1/16th inch in length. One or no more than two tiny tears (1/16th inch) are permitted in this grade. An extremely tiny tear repair, microscopic dot color touch-up, unobtrusive arrival date erasure or other similar invisible alteration, on an otherwise perfect copy, is permitted in this grade.

VF+ Towards the top of the VF category.

VF (VERY FINE): Above Average. An excellent copy with outstanding eye-appeal. Sharp, bright, clean and glossy with supple pages. Slight wear beginning to show; possibly 5 or 6 tiny wrinkles or stress lines at staples or along spine where cover has been opened a few times; still clean and flat with 80 per cent of cover gloss retained. Pages and covers can be slightly yellowish/tannish but not brown and will usually be creamy to white. 4 or 5 tiny color flakes are acceptable. One 1/4 inch corner crease on an otherwise exceptional copy is permitted. Very minor restoration or repair is not allowed in this grade unless it is specifically noted and described.

VF- Towards the bottom of the VF category.

FVF (FINE-VERY FINE): Nearly Very Fine. A sharp, clean copy but without the crispness associated with Very Fine. Pages can be slightly tannish but not brown or brittle. Up to 8 tiny stress lines along the spine or covers can be expected. Several tiny color flakes are permitted. No subscription creases or spine roll allowed. A minor printing defect is allowed. Corners may be very slightly rounded. Exceptional cover gloss remains (60 per cent or more).

F+ Towards the top of the FINE category.

FINE: A slightly better-than-average copy that shows minor wear, but still relatively flat, clean and glossy with no subscription crease, writing on cover (except an arrival date), brown margins or tape repairs. Typical defects include: Light spine wear, minor surface wear, a light crease (1/4 inch in length), minor yellowing/tanning to interior pages. Still a bright copy with 50 per cent cover gloss. A few stress lines around staples and along spine to be expected, but not more than 1/8th inch in length. One small edge chip or several tiny chips are allowed. One minor tear is allowed when on an otherwise FVF copy. Very minor spine roll allowed on an otherwise clean and uncreased copy.

F- Towards the bottom of the FINE category.

VG/F (VERY GOOD-FINE): Better than a VG+, approaching FINE but not quite sharp enough to merit the higher grade. Oftentimes, a FINE with a minor defect is lowered to VG/F.

VG+ Towards the top of the VG category.

VG (VERY GOOD): The average used comic book. Significant wear is obvious with original printing lustre and gloss almost gone; some discoloration or fading, but not soiled. One or two minor markings on covers is permitted as is a minor spine roll. Lightly creased along spine or extremities; a subscription crease is allowed. Cover could have a minor tear or crease where a corner was folded under or a loose centerfold. A minor chip or piece missing is allowed when noted. No chunks missing. Pages and inside covers may be brown but not brittle, but would usually be yellowish to creamy. One small tape repair permitted. Still enough eye-appeal to be collectable.

VG- Towards the bottom of the VG category.

G/VG (GOOD-VERY GOOD): Better than G+, almost VG but not quite.

G+ Towards the top of the G category.

G (GOOD): Below average. A heavily worn copy but complete. Creased, scuffed, not glossy and soiled. Although a copy in this grade could have white pages and covers, the accumulation of defects such as creases, tears or chips and general wear prevent the book from a higher classification.

G- Towards the bottom of the G category.

FR/G: Borderline GOOD, with perhaps just a bit too much wear to be a solid GOOD.

FR+: Same as FR/G.

FAIR : Very heavily read and soiled, but still complete. Damaged beyond collectibility for most collectors, bringing 30-50 per cent of the Good price.

P (POOR): Damaged; heavily weathered; soiled; or otherwise unsuited for collection purposes. Possibly incomplete or coverless; pages may be missing, bringing 15 to 25 per cent of the Good price.

COVERLESS (C): Coverless comics are usually hard to sell and in most cases are worthless.

OTHER TERMINOLOGY

Many of the following terms and abbreviations are used in the comic book market and are explained here:

Annual-A book that is published yearly.

Arrival date-Markings on a comic book cover (usually in pen or pencil) made by either the newstand dealer or the distributor. These markings denote the date the book was placed on the newstand. Usually the arrival date is one or two months prior to the cover date.

Brittleness-The final stage of paper deterioration.

Bronze Age-Comic books published after 1969.

cov-Cover art;

Cameo-When a character appears briefly in one or two panels.

Centerfold-The two folded pages in the center of a comic at the terminal end of the staples.

FF - Fantastic Four

First app.-The first time that a character appears anywhere.

G. A.-Golden Age.

Golden Age (G. A.)-The period beginning with Action #1 (June, 1938) and ending with World War II in 1945.

Intro-Same as first appearance.

JLA-Justice League of America.

JLI-Justice League International.

JSA-Justice Society of America.

Logo-The comic book title as it appears on the cover or title page.

LSH-Legion of Super-Heroes.

Marvel chipping-A defect that occurred during the trimming process of 1950s & 1960s Marvels which produced a ragged edge around the comic cover. Usually takes the form of a tiny chip or chips along the right-hand edge of the cover.

nn or no #-No number.

Origin- The story which details the coming into existence or use of a Super Hero, or the Super Hero's powers.

p-Art pencils.

Pre-Code-Comic books published before the CCA seal.

S.A. - Silver Age.

Silver Age- Comics printed between the years 1956 and1969.

Eye-appeal: The final grade given any book is determined by how appealing the book appears to the eye. Therefore, defects to the back cover affect the grade less than the same defects to the front cover. A final grade is the sum of all positive and negative aspects of a book. Since eye-appeal is subjective, grading is an art and not a science. Defects that disturb one collector may not be a factor to another.

In making your grade, use these guidelines as a general consensus of most knowledgable collectors and dealers.
